

Full house of dates for 2022 FIM Sidecar World Championship

After a difficult yet nonetheless very successful 2021 season which saw Markus Schlosser and Marcel Fries crowned champions, Roger Body and his RKB-F1 management team in conjunction with the Fédération Internationale de Motocyclisme are delighted to confirm a full eight-round Championship for 2022.

With most European countries now well advanced in their Covid-19 vaccination programmes, there is a real sense of optimism that the global pandemic which has so severely affected sport and travel, will not disrupt arrangements and plans for a full racing season.

There is additional excellent news in that there will be two rounds with the FIM Superbike World Championship as well as two with the FIM World Endurance series.

These are big stages to perform on, and further indication of the way the FIM and major organisers view the renaissance of the FIM Sidecar World Championship.

Confirmed dates are listed below.

April 14-16 France, Le Mans World Endurance.

April 22-24 Netherlands, Assen World SBK

June 2-4 Belgium, Spa-Francorchamps World Endurance

June 17-19 Hungary, Pannonia Ring

June 23-26 Croatia, Rijeka

July 15-17 UK, Donington Park World SBK.

September 30-Oct 2 Germany, Oschersleben
